WARM GLOW

Warm neutrals of creamy ivory, sandy beige, and gentle taupe adorn the floors and furniture, with the striking combination of dark warm tones deep chocolate brown, and espresso infusing richness and depth. The interiors feature the natural allure of exquisite woods, such as both white and yellow oak, blending seamlessly with the soft textures of plush linens and bouclé.

A COASTAL Remake

The concept of resort living has gained even more significance in recent times as people seek refuge away from bustling city environments. The past three and a half years have served as a reminder of the value of tranquility and mindfulness in our lives. Regardless of the simplicity of one's lifestyle, it is now possible to transform it into a realm of luxury. Nestled within the serene Chimney Cove, this exceptional 1.8-acre property embodies the essence of a resort-style residence, truly one in a million.

Originally constructed in 1913, this historic house underwent a breathtaking redesign and remodel under the masterful guidance of DeRosa Builders. The visionary project was initiated by David Chase Homes several years ago and has resulted in one of the most remarkable transformations seen in recent times.

Exuding a colonial coastal charm, the home emanates warmth through its yellow oak wooden flooring, creating an inviting atmosphere. The expansive layout seamlessly blends indoor and outdoor spaces, allowing residents to bask in the breathtaking scenery while embracing the essence of indoor-outdoor living. Abundant natural light floods the interiors through large windows, accentuating the use of natural textures and elegant coastal décor and fixtures.

This remarkable residence offers a harmonious fusion of history, contemporary design, and a coastal ambiance, providing a haven of refined living.

I am very biased when it concerns kitchen colors, and although I selected this house before I even got to the kitchen, I believe that my heart somehow knows how to find the kitchen of my dreams. This unique dark blue coastal kitchen is painted in the captivating hues of Hale Navy by Benjamin Moore or Starless Night by Behr Paints, a color that I can confidently say is not going anywhere anytime soon. Modern cabinetry takes on a sophisticated charm, draped in this distinctive color. The brown accents of the wooden oak flooring and the chic tan leather barstools harmonize flawlessly, elevating the space into a modern, upscale coastal retreat. The kitchen nook or cozy breakfast area ties it all together, adding a more nouveau feel because it's interesting that you wouldn't expect the black and white chairs, but all I can say is that it is absolutely beautiful.
