THIS WEEK'S INTERIOR TRENDS

AU NATUREL

In the ever-evolving world of design, the resurgence of wood and concrete elements is ushering in a new era of modern appeal, particularly in residential spaces. The natural allure of woods like reclaimed oak, walnut, and bamboo adds a touch of rustic elegance, while the industrial charm of exposed concrete walls and polished concrete floors exudes contemporary sophistication. As the design industry continues to embrace these materials, spaces are transformed into unique and captivating environments, making bold statements that stand the test of time.

ALLURING VALLEY

Mill Valley, an idyllic Northern California haven, boasts a picturesque landscape enveloped by lush woodlands and serene canyons. Its allure lies in a lifestyle of luxury, with multi-million dollar homes catering to the wealthy seeking refuge amidst nature's grandeur. Architectural styles range from contemporary masterpieces with seamless indoor-outdoor living to traditional craftsman homes embracing the area's rich heritage. This harmonious blend of opulence and natural beauty creates an exclusive retreat for the discerning few. The residence stands as a testament to architectural brilliance, effortlessly fusing with the enchanting natural splendor that envelops it. In true indoor-outdoor style, this house harmoniously incorporates natural wood, oxidized steel, and rich zinc panels, effortlessly integrating them with the surrounding lush foliage. The seamless flow from inside to outside creates a captivating living experience, where nature becomes an integral part of the home's design and ambiance. The entrance exudes modern elegance with its striking black metal double door, a bold contrast against the sleek concrete walls. The door's minimalist design is adorned with subtle geometric patterns. An impressive entryway adorned with wooden panels, accentuating the floating staircase's captivating design leads into the 5 bedrooms, 5.5 bathroom house with mostly wooden flooring and double-height sliding doors that further extend the natural aesthetic.

Quezada Architecture (QA) is a pioneering design firm with offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles. Founded and led by visionary architects. With a diverse team of talented professionals, QA's projects exemplify a unique blend of creativity, innovation, and inclusivity. Their portfolio spans an array of architectural wonders, from residential masterpieces to commercial landmarks and community-oriented spaces. Inspired by the belief that architecture has the power to transform lives and shape a better future, QA's designs consistently prioritize sustainability and social impact. Embracing cutting-edge technologies and environmentally responsible practices, they create spaces that celebrate human experiences while preserving the natural world.

This house stands as a testament to the architect's foundational principles of design. Every aspect of the residence reflects their unwavering commitment to craftsmanship, functionality, and aesthetics, showcasing their enduring passion and vision for creating exceptional spaces.

EDITOR'S PICK

The Indian Springs Guillotine Fireplace and blackened steel surround is a perfect example of a contemporary use of patina'd steel. The steel panels are hand patina'd and hung on a steel frame with Z-clips so that there is a very concise tight joint. The fireplace door is a guillotine style screen that recesses up into the steel above. Clean lines and custom engineering.

*Patina is a thin layer that variously forms on the surface of copper, brass, bronze and similar metals and metal alloys.
