As we celebrate the 50th milestone edition of Inside Magazine, I find myself reflecting on the interesting journey we've taken together. What started as a pet project has evolved into a genuine success, and I am truly delighted to share this moment with you.

As I peruse the pages of our past editions, rediscovering my favorite spaces and interior décors, I'm also excited about the trends shaping the luxury home landscape for 2024. It's been a meaningful journey, and your support has been the cornerstone of our achievement.

To our valued partners and dedicated readers, I extend my sincere gratitude. Your commitment to Inside Magazine has been instrumental in creating a platform that celebrates the artistry of design and architecture. Your discerning taste and passion for refined living inspire us to push boundaries.

As we embark on the next 50 editions, I invite you to continue this journey with us. Your engagement and enthusiasm have been the driving force behind our success, and I look forward to exploring even more extraordinary aspects of luxury living together.

Thank you for your trust, your readership, and your partnership. Here's to the next chapter of Inside Magazine.

TUDOR LEAGUE

ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN: JAMES MCNEAL, ANGELA LIESMAKI-DECOUX
BUILDER: HENDEL HOMES

The intricate beauty of a transitional European-style residence in Orono, Minnesota. Located near Lake Minnetonka, this architectural marvel captivates with its meticulous details. The exterior showcases a striking interplay between a white crushed-limestone stucco finish and black metal windows, setting the tone for an exploration of thoughtful design within. Each room reveals a carefully curated selection of custom furnishings, seamlessly blending modern farmhouse elements with Tudor-style architecture. Unexpected high arched beams grace the space, adding a distinctive touch. This house stands as a testament to meticulous craftsmanship and refined detailing. This edition was highly rated by our readers, and we loved the feedback.
